We're teaching one another,
We're learning as we play,
We're training for a mission
To a planet far away.

LET'S GET GLOWING

Martin Baynton

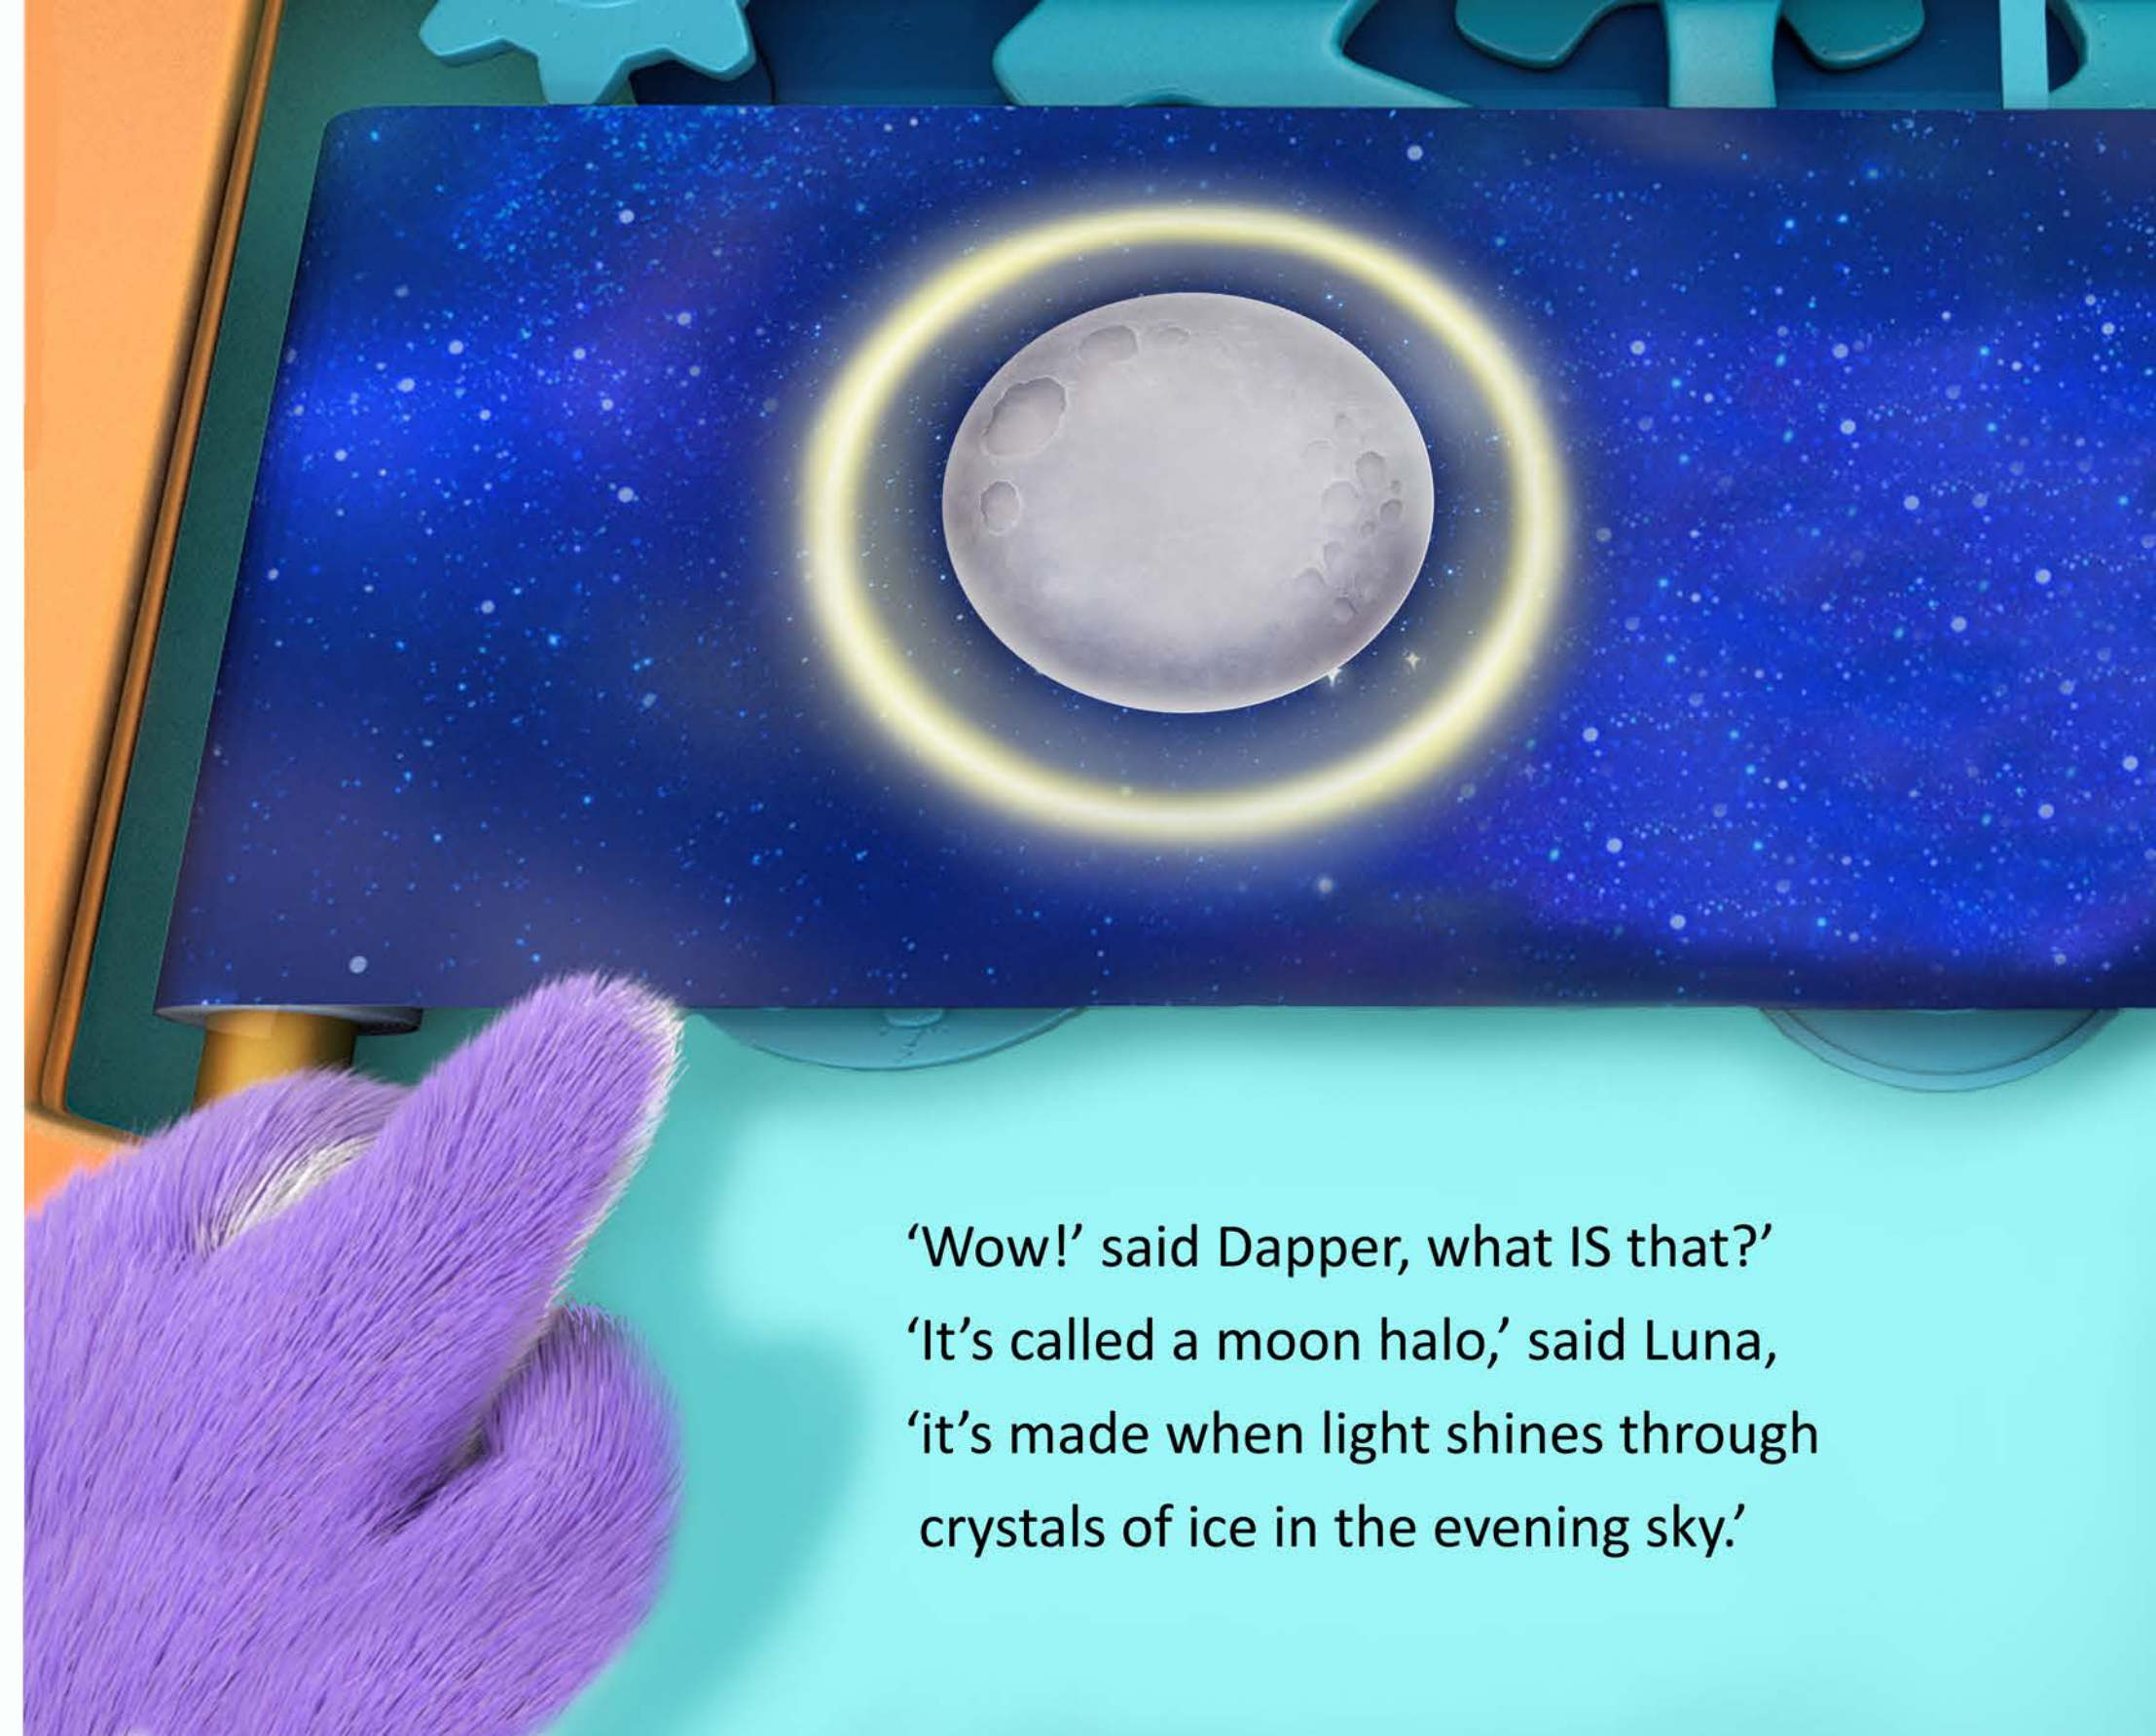

‘I’m bored!’ said Dapper, ‘bored and BORED!
Nothing new or interesting is happening.’

‘We can do our morning exercises,’ said Patches.
‘Will they be new and interesting exercises?’ asked Dapper.

‘We can do balancing,’ said Patches.
‘Then, that would be a ...no,’ said Dapper.

‘Something interesting will be in our sky this evening,’
said Luna, ‘there’s a picture of it on my star charts.’
The Kiddets followed Luna over to her science table.

‘Wow!’ said Dapper, what IS that?’
‘It’s called a moon halo,’ said Luna,
‘it’s made when light shines through crystals of ice in the evening sky.’

'I want to PAINT one!' cheered Dapper.
'I want to STUDY one,' cheered Luna.

'I want to BUILD one!' cheered Bounce.
'I want to FLY through one,' cheered Stripes.

‘I want us to glow like one,’
said Patches, ‘let’s exercise
till we get a healthy halo glow.’

‘Let’s not,’ said Dapper, and he ran off to start his painting.’

‘Wait a moment,’ laughed Patches, and she raced after him.

‘Will you exercise if I find a new and interesting activity?’

‘Okay,’ said Dapper, ‘now let’s get our halo day UNDERWAY.’

Dapper made a painting of the halo and wrote a play for it. The picture gave a starring performance. 'Bravo,' said Stripes, 'great acting.'

Bounce built a marvellous magnetic halo.
His magnetic machine buzzed like a bee
and a metal ring hovered like a halo.
'Amazing!' said Stripes, 'great hovering!'

Stripes made an obstacle course of halo rings,
and he flew his model spaceship through them.
'Woohoo!' said Dapper, 'great flying, Stripes!'

While Luna studied a model of the moon halo, Patches searched her cupboard for a new and interesting exercise. High on the top shelf she spotted something. 'Perfect!' she said, 'now all I need is a pot of Dapper's glittering golden paint.'

That evening, the Kiddets sat in the garden to watch the moonrise. Up it came, a silver moon with a glittering golden halo. Wow! The Kiddets stared and stared. 'It's amazing,' sighed Dapper, 'will we ever see ANYTHING this new and interesting again?'

‘Yes!’ laughed Patches, and she threw five glittering hula hoops into the air, ‘it’s time to exercise with LOOPY HULA HALO HOOPS?’

‘Woohoo!’ Dapper jumped up and caught his Loopy Hula-Halo-Hoop,
‘Come on Kiddets, let’s GET GLOWING!’

Soon the Kiddets were spinning and whooping and hula-hooping under a glittering moon halo.

‘Best exercise ever,’ laughed Dapper.

Stay healthy everyone
